

Guaranteed Ride Home (GRH)

Guaranteed Ride Home (GRH) Program relieves worries

- When a ridesharing employee has a personal emergency and needs a ride home – what happens?
- Don't worry – the GRH program comes to the rescue.

Program benefits

- A free car rental or taxi ride home, depending on guidelines
- Service is available 4 times a year, per employee
- Requires emergency: illness, at-home emergency, unexpected overtime

Who qualifies to use the program?

- Employers who actively participate in a program designed to reduce drive-alone commuting
- It's easy to set-up; our account executive can register your company in the Ride Pro database
- Employees automatically eligible, if employer is registered

How it works

- An employee has an emergency and contacts the designated company representative for this program.
- The company representative evaluates the situation and refers to the program guidelines to determine if a taxi or a car rental might be most appropriate.
- The company representative gives the employee a company identification number, a voucher, and the phone number to call to get a service provider.
- The employee signs the voucher and gives it to the service provider; a tip for the service provider is optional.
- The employee has a free ride home and follows through with the program guidelines.
